

Urban Impact Summer Internship Information

Internship dates: May 25th-August 2nd 2011

Deadline to apply: December 11th 2010

Interviews: December 13th-17th

Hiring notifications: January 1st-30th

What is the Summer internship like? What will I be doing? Summer interns serve alongside Urban Impact's NOLA Fusion program. While serving with this program interns help facilitate 7 weeks of Day camp for kids ages 6-11. Our summer interns also serve as coaches for our Challenge Circle outreach. This evening outreach consists of games, water balloons and lots of relationship building time with the youth. You will have the opportunity to share your faith, grow in servant leadership skills, give lots of piggy back rides, paint faces, receive and give many hugs and leave the summer knowing you made a difference in our children's lives.

Where would I stay? You will be staying in the Yellow House, a cleverly-named former fourplex which houses work teams and the Urban Impact offices. There are 18 bunks on each side of the house, which has been divided into a guy's side and a girl's side. You will be staying in the apartments, also located upstairs, with the other interns of your gender.

How much would I get paid? Each intern is asked to raise $5,000 for the internship. Your room and board is taken out of this and you get a stipend of $3,000. This is paid in equal installments every two weeks.

While support raising can be scary for some, it is essentially a process of building relationships, confirming your ministry direction and establishing a spiritual base for the work you will be doing. Your support team can be a great encouragement as they pray for you, support you financially and perhaps even send cards and care packages.

We can almost guarantee success in fundraising if you follow our guidelines. Any donations made for your support are tax deductible. Any money raised above $5,000 will be used to help cover administrative fees and additional intern program costs picked up by the ministry to keep your salaries reasonable.

Urban Impact Ministries exists to transform the people of Central City New Orleans through spiritual development, Christian community development and strategic partnerships. UIM is a legally licensed 501c3 organization. With membership in the Evangelical Council for Financial Accountability.
